I think that's a good plan – as opposed to wedging it into Monday's 45 minutes. I will follow up with the folks who mentioned this to me to see if they have a reason for this ask.

I just spoke with Kathy Hurd. OWOW staff are on David Ross's calendar for a 1-hour briefing at 2 o'clock on February 13 to provide a general overview of 404 assumption. They are also on his calendar for a 45-minute briefing on February 14 to specifically discuss assumable waters issues. Her plan was to briefly cover Florida during the overview briefing.

I thought I understood from Kathy that they were briefing David on 404 assumption the morning of the 14th

How quickly do you need it, and would a 1- to 2-page Briefing paper work for you?

It's going to need to hit all of it – so will have to be high level on all of it. This is why we need to check with John Goodin because 45 minutes it tight anyway, then you add in 303(d)

Mary, for the 404, are you looking for a briefing on the assumption in general, a briefing on the status of Florida, or on this ESA issue?

I was almost successful – as of yesterday mid-day I thought I had agreement to forgo the 303(d) briefing. Today (post our regional highlights at the first meeting with David Ross, where I mentioned FLA 404), it's been suggested that we keep the meeting and use it to cover both topics.

Ambitious for 45 minutes – yes. But I'm sure we can do it. Good news is we'd always planned a brief briefing on 303(d) – and we should already have the bones of a FLA 404 assumption briefing. I just need to look at both together and figure out how to further truncate...

Tom, can you send me an updated 404 briefing and maybe confirm with John Goodin's office that they are behind this?
